

THE SEVENTH FIRE

The title, "The Seventh Fire," comes from the Seven Fires Prophecies which were given to the Anishinaabe people. This display features a timeline of the history of the Anishinaabe people as well as videos that show the many different perspectives on decolonization and Anishinaabe culture, including foodways, education, sovereignty and the challenges of living in a colonized world.

"The Seventh Fire" was developed over several months by a dedicated committee of individuals from the Beaumier U.P. Heritage Center, Center for Native American Studies at NMU, the Great Lakes Peace Center, the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan and the Native American Student Association.

TRAVELING EXHIBIT

NIIGANIGIIZHIK CEREMONIAL BUILDING

MAY 28 & 29: 10AM-6PM • MAY 30: 10AM-2PM

The Walking Together: Finding Common Ground Traveling Exhibit Project was developed by the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan in partnership with the Great Lakes Peace Center to uncover, acknowledge, and document the truth about Indigenous experiences in the Michigan Native American Boarding Schools.

 /MQTTravelingExhibit

 mqctravelingexhibit@gmail.com

 www.nmu.edu/walking-together

Funded in part by a grant from

An affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities