Tribal Code: Chapter 21 Hunting and Inland Fishing adopted by Resolution No: 96-70, April 2, 1996 and Supplement to Chapter 21 Hunting and Inland Fishing Administrative Regulations, adopted by Resolution No: 2000-24, February 23, 2000; both repealed in their entirety by Resolution No:2008-44.

2007 Inland Consent Decree:

In October of 2003 the State of Michigan brought suit in Federal court to determine whether or not the Tribe's inland treaty rights continued to exist under the 1836 Treaty of Washington within the ceded territory. Included in the case were four other 1836 Treaty tribes. Trial was scheduled for January of 2006. In the summer of 2005 the parties explored settlement as an option. In August of 2006 the parties reached a preliminary settlement agreement titled the Agreement in Principle. From then on all effort was focused on settling the case to the benefit of all parties. This effort resulted in the 2007 Inland Consent Decree. The Decree detailed the scope of the treaty right and the allocation of natural resources amongst the parties. In October 11, 2007, the parties filed a stipulation to settle the case as outlined in the Decree. On Nov 2, 2007, the court entered the Decree. This Chapter 21 is the Tribe's prerequisite rules and regulations governing Tribal members' use of the treaty right within the ceded territory.
